

Candidates' forum slated

(Updated Friday, October 7, 2005, 9:13 AM)

The Yosemite Teachers Association invites the public to attend a Candidates' Forum on Monday, Oct. 17 in the Yosemite High School Theater from 7 p.m. to 9p.m.

This moderated forum will pose a series of questions to the candidates about their qualifications, their vision for the new district and how they will keep the avenues of communication open between themselves and their constituents in the newly unified district. Time is reserved for audience questions to the candidates.

The Nov. 8 election will determine the futures of Yosemite Union High School District and Coarsegold Union School District.

Voters will decide whether these two districts will unify.

If the voters approve unification, they will elect five trustees to serve at-large rather than as representatives of communities within the district as in the past.

Eleven candidates are campaigning for five seats on the governing board of this as-yet-unnamed unified school district.

Who are these candidates, what are their qualifications, and how will they fulfill their duties toward the students of Coarsegold and Yosemite?

Yosemite Teachers Association urges the public to attend the Candidates' Forum and to vote on Nov. 8.
