

Mixing it up

(Updated Friday, November 18, 2005, 9:40 AM)

Students of Yosemite High School's peer communication class observed Mix It Up at Lunch Day Tuesday, a national event geared toward supporting student efforts to identify, question and cross social boundaries. Members of the class spent their lunchtime mingling with other YHS students to introduce themselves to those they did not already know. Mix It Up at Lunch Day is sponsored by the Southern Poverty Law Center's tolerance programs, based out of Montgomery, Ala. and the Study Circles Resource Center.
