Four Yosemite High School juniors recently returned from the Rotary Youth Leadership Camp where they spent four days to further their leadership skills.

Pam Cottington, Cody Madsen, Daniel Norby and Amanda Pol were selected to represent YHS on the basis of leadership, personal values, intelligence, and integrity. "Rotary asks for the best leader the school can provide," according to the brochure about the program.

Cottington is a member of the California Scholarship Federation, Interact, and Advanced Drama. She keeps statistics for the boys' basketball team. She enjoys music and sports and has worked for a year at Bass Lake Water Sports.

She is the daughter of Patty and Steve Cottington of North Fork and she has an older brother, Jon.

Madsen is on the YHS Academic Decathlon Team and the Mock Trial Team. He is a member of the Library Club, California Scholarship Federation, and Interact and he is on the junior varsity swim team. He enjoys Mediterranean history, international relations, law, and "reading a good book."

His parents are Laurie and Garret Madsen of Oakhurst. He has a brother, Will, who is a freshman at YHS, and he has a sister, Emma, who is a fifth grader.

Norby is on the YHS Academic Decathlon Team and he is in the Library Club. He enjoys hiking and reading. His parents are Richard Norby and Susan Coon of Coarsegold.

Pol is a member of the French Club and she is on the varsity volleyball team. She works as a
