

Poetry Award for Korey Ray at the CSU Fresno Young Writers Conference

Korey Ray won the San Joaquin Literary Association Award for his poem “La Madrugada” at the CSU Fresno Young Writers Conference held March 28 at CSUF. The poem was published in the conference anthology Spectrum, and Korey was awarded a check for $50.

There were over 400 pieces of student writing submitted to a panel of conference judges, and only 40 of them were published in Spectrum. Twenty-one of the poems, stories, and essays received awards, making Korey part of a very elite group.

If you have contact with Korey, congratulate him!!
